

EVEN THESE THINGS - Complimentary Tickets for St Philips Parents & Guardians

The Royal Exchange Team would like to pass on their thanks to all the children performing in EVEN THESE THINGS. The choirs have been truly 'supersonic' and we're very excited for the show's opening this Friday.

As a parent or guardian we would like to invite you to watch EVEN THESE THINGS and to see your child step out onto our stage as part of this epic story of Manchester. Please see how to claim your free tickets below and an offer code for you to share with friends, family and your community.

Please note the play has an age guidance of 14+ (children participating in the choirs have only seen their own scene and have not seen the rest of the play).

Kind regards,
Molly Taylor, Creative Exchange Manager

What is EVEN THESE THINGS?

Three Centuries. Three Moments. Our City.

‘Do you think the city’s forgotten?’

Three centuries. Three moments in time. An epic story of Manchester and Ireland by multi award-winning playwright Rory Mullarkey premieres at the Royal Exchange Theatre, 30 years after an IRA bomb devastated the heart of the city.

In 1846, Annie Donovan has a score to settle; in 1996, it looks like any other Saturday morning in Manchester; and in 2026, Jenny moves back to the place where she grew up.

This original and moving new play explores private and public histories, grief and love – and the making and re-making of our city.

Award-winning Film and Television star Elaine Cassidy makes her Royal Exchange debut, alongside Katherine Pearce, who returns to the Royal Exchange after starring in NO PAY? NO WAY! (2023).

Directed by James Macdonald. Age 14+
